

Dika

Dika is a contemporary take on a traditional armchair inspired by the Danish design from the mid-60s, whose name roughly translated means pride in the Slavonian dialect. Simple wordplay conceived by a designer from the region and made from locally sourced wood is the essence of Nuncs' brand promise, blending exceptional craftsmanship with modern technology. The armchair's design plays between curved and straight lines, creating a harmonious balance that is both visually appealing and structurally sound.

Attention to detail and the distinctive break in the lumbar area make Dika a comfortable yet elegant component of any public space or home environment. The soft and rounded solid wood pays beautiful homage to the comfortable foam seat, which is integrated with a cold steel construction that provides essential support. This combination ensures that the armchair is stylish but also durable and supportive, making it suitable for long sitting periods.

Dika

The silhouette of Dika, which has been modified and brought back, evokes a sense of nostalgia while maintaining a modern aesthetic. This blend of old and new makes it a versatile piece that can complement various interior styles. Whether placed in a living room, office, or lounge area, Dika stands out as a testament to the enduring appeal of mid-century design, reimagined for contemporary settings.
